This "shop" (as it was then called) is now to be enclosed by an iron fence and covered by a copper roof, so as to hereafter protect it from the ravages of the weather. Near the "shop" is the same water spring, bubbling up between the rocks as it did over 100 years ago, and which, even in those days, afforced weary travelers many a refreshing drink. This spring is now to be turned into a free, public fountain for the benefit of travelers along that highway-indeed, a most fitting commemoration of the life and services of one who so untiringly ministered to both the physical and spiritual welfare of the people. It does not often happen that the memory of B man who lived such a quiet and unassuming existence, occupied as he was, solely in the field of medical research, hoping thereby to benefit his fellow men, is so highly revered by a fourth and fitth generation. One thing is certain, when, in this cold and prosaic age, a community makes such public recognition of a man's services and is willing to place itself to such expense in honoring his memory so that future generations may also knowshout him, that man must have been above the ordinary and his life and activity not in vain. So much in honor of the discoverer of DR. PRTER'S BLOOD VITALIZER.

Elder Isaac Long, of Maryland Station, Ogle County, Illinois, under date of December 31, 1884, writes: "Please excuse me for giving what I call a short bit of ancient history: Whenever I hear the name Fabrney (we pronounced it Fawney), I am carried away back east five and fifty years. My father had broken health for many years and old Peter and so res of times did I ride the ten or twelve miles to his place for medicine, and many were the hours I sat in his office (shop as it was called), watching the old man's motions as he paced back and forth compounding and mixing ingredients. Noontime would always come before I could get away, and then my horse went to the stable and we hied us to the house, where we found a great table set, laden with plenty for everybody that was there, and often not a few. His wife-a very estimable woman, indeed, from whom we always received a kind greeting-seemed to wait on all with the utmost spectfolly, your friend and brother, January, 1862, while acting as Order y-Sergeaut in Co. E. 11th Pa., at Camp Ere, I contracted pneumonia. While in camp I slept outside with one Mr. Brecht. During January I was sent home to Hayfield. Crawford Co., Pa. Being still seck when the regiment left for Baitimore, the regimental officers advised me to stay at home, and I wis never able to join it again. My original pension, applied for about 1882 or 1883, is still pending. Any comrade knowing the truthfitness of my star ement regarding sickness in Camp Erie, will confer a favor by writing me, as my lungs, liver, and kluneys are still aling.
